

Abstract

The present invention provides a method and apparatus for casing while drilling without the use of an underreamer. In one aspect, the invention provides a flexible drill collar that enables drilling of a large enough borehole for passage of the casing string therethrough.